

Result of the third simulation
The Congress of Vienna 1814-1815
“Poland-Saxony Crisis and New Territorial Order in Germany”
Monday, 21 May 2007

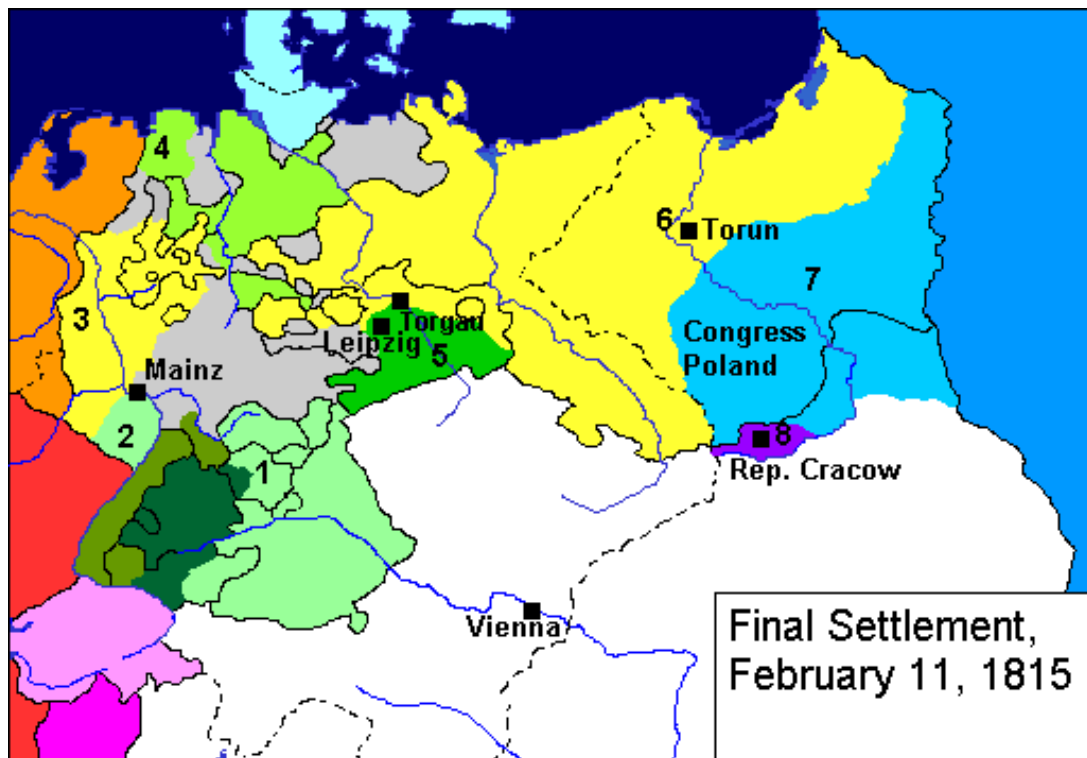

The final settlement on May 21, 2007

Description:

1. Nuremberg and Hof ceded to Bavaria by Prussia
2. Palatinate, Mainz and the southern Rhineland (the river Moselle as the border) to Bavaria
3. Rhineland and Westphalia to Prussia
4. East Frisia to Hanover
5. Saxony remains an independent kingdom, loses 40% of its territory to Prussia, but retains Leipzig; Torgau goes to Prussia
6. Torun and the area around remains within Prussia
7. Creation of the Kingdom of Poland and Galicia (ceded by Austria) with its own constitution, in personal union with Russia
8. Cracow and adjacent area (ceded by Russia and Prussia) go to Austria
9. France's border of 1792 is recognized; France becomes one of the committee of the five, regains de-facto the status of great power. Further decision of the Congress needs France's consent.

For comparison: the final settlement on February 11, 1815

Description:

1. Nuremberg and Hof to Bavaria
2. Palatinate and Mainz to Bavaria
3. Rhineland and Westphalia to Prussia
4. East Frisia to Hanover
5. Saxony remains independent, loses 40% of the territory to Prussia but retains Leipzig and Torgau
6. Torun and the area around to Prussia
7. Creation of the Kingdom of Poland with its own constitution, in personal union with Russia
8. Creation of the Free City of Cracow